

Addressing the east side of the N'gate Ped/Bike Bridge: A Transit Police/SPD Substation

"We encourage Sound Transit and King County Metro to consider placing a Transit Police substation at the Northgate Transit Center/LINK station. This should not be difficult given the design of these areas has not been finalized. Having transit-specific public safety staff on hand at what we expect will be one of the busiest stations on the North Link segment makes sense."

Maple Leaf Community Council
February 7, 2012 Page 2 of 11

126 | CITY COMFORTS

Tokyo, Japan
photo by Hiromitsu Yajima

Scatter police

"The cops are never around when you need them." So goes the old saw. One solution is to scatter small police stations, sized for one or two officers, about the city. If a vendor sells espresso nearby — a natural gathering and gossiping spot — so much the better.

Btw, is this level of residential density forecast in City plan? Or is it parking garages? i.e. Auto-oriented transit?

Underlying image courtesy of SDOT
Comments by David Sucher 8/15/2014
dsucher@citycomforts.com